Dear Sir:

Here are the negative reports for January. The southern areas had more than their share of haze this past month!

I notice the first area was not checked until the 13th, and if I remember correctly, this was due entirely to bad weather.

It still takes me a good half hour to check area "121" which certainly contains plenty of stars. While examining it on the 23rd the temperature got down to  $-10^{\circ}\text{F}$ , which was the coldest right around here for many years. It seldom gets as low as  $0^{\circ}$  in this area.

Sincerely yours,
